U. S. Mediators Step Into CIO-Steel Contract Talks

Ching Calls Meeting

Seeks To Block Strike

WASHINGTON —(INS) — The government meets today with top U. S. Steel and CIO officials in an effort to prevent a threatened nationwide strike at midnight next Friday.

The peace parley was called by Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service, who will confer with U. S. Steel Vice President John A. Stephens and CIO President Philip Murray.

Murray has scheduled a meeting of the CIO's 170-member wage-policy board in Pittsburgh on Tuesday to consider a walkout July 15 in support of the union's demands for more pay, a pension and company-financed insurance.

U. S. Steel, bellwether of the industry, rejected the demands last Wednesday and refused to discuss the pension issue. The company held that the contract, which expires next year, can only be reopened for wages and insurance.

SPURN CIO DEMANDS

Other "big steel" firms traditionally follow U. S. Steel's lead in contract negotiations. Some already have turned down the CIO's bill of particulars and others are expected to follow suit.

However, Inland Steel of Chicago, sought to break the front Saturday with an offer of a mutually-financed pension and insurance program. But the union dismissed the plan as "inadequate."

All of these companies are expected to send representatives to Washington to meet with Ching. The firms include:

Bethlehem Steel, Crucible Steel, Weirton Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, Republic Steel, Armco Steel and Inland Steel.

Gov. Jester Found Dead

HOUSTON, Tex.—(UP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester was found dead here early today in a pullman car at the Southern-Pacific railroad station.

The body of the 56-year-old governor was found by a porter, Charley Jimerson, who went to Jester's berth to awaken him.

Jimerson said he called softly, and then shook the governor gently when his eyes remained closed.

Gov. Jester left Austin before midnight last night, accompanied by a bodyguard of state highway patrolmen. He was to spend several days here on a vacation and to complete what he had called a "secret mission."

Jimerson summoned the pullman conductor, C. D. Pierce of Houston, who in turn called one of the governor's bodyguards, Patrolman W. B. Hawkins.

Hawkins told reporters he felt no pulse beat whatsoever, and immediately called police.

Apartment House Fire Kills Four

BALTIMORE — (UP) — Four persons were killed and two were seriously injured in an apartment house fire in North Baltimore early today.

The blaze broke out in a three-story brick apartment building and spread to three adjoining row apartments. The flames were brought under control in a little more than an hour. The victims, whose identities were not immediately determined, apparently all were trapped in their bedrooms.

'Chutist Hurt At Air Show

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Civil Air Patrol Lt. George Geib is doing a little reminiscing on that 5,000 foot jump he took in the CAP's air show at the airport yesterday—but from a hospital bed.

Geib who took a first place and a second placement in the five missions of the show yesterday, was reported to have made "a beautiful jump." But a strong cross - wind caught his 'chute swing a few feet from the ground, tossing him around like a rubber ball.

Geib's left ankle was fractured in the landing, but he was reported in "good" condition in General hospital today. Geib resides at 594 Bowman street.

Although the Mansfield CAP unit took the lion's share of the prizes, stiff competition came from the units of Mt. Vernon and Bucyrus. Approximately 24 air crews from Mt. Vernon, Galion, Bucyrus, Ashland, and Mansfield participated in the afternoon show. Approximately 1,000 spectators were on hand to witness the missions.

HITS TARGET

The Mansfield unit started its three first - place, three second-place wins when Geib took top honors on the bombing test. His two-pound sack of lime hit 39½ feet from the center of the target. Second place was taken by Lt. Russell Jennings of Mt. Vernon whose sack hit 53 feet from the target center.

Lt. Charles Schaffer of the Bucyrus squad took first place in the search mission with Flight Officer Phillip Schwander of the Mansfield unit taking second place.

Mansfield came back to win another first place in the spot

Reds Slash Supply Line

BERLIN — UP) — The Russians arbitrarily cut western truck traffic into Berlin by 80 per cent today and forced postponement of a four-power meeting called to discuss the city's economic plight.

Soviet authorities closed all border crossings between western Germany and the Soviet zone except that on the Helmstedt - Berlin super - highway. There, they used every ruse to slow traffic to four trucks an hour.

By 10 a. m., more than 100 big trailer trucks, most of them carrying vegetables, fish and other perishable foods for western Berlin, were lined up at the Helmstedt check point under a broiling sun.

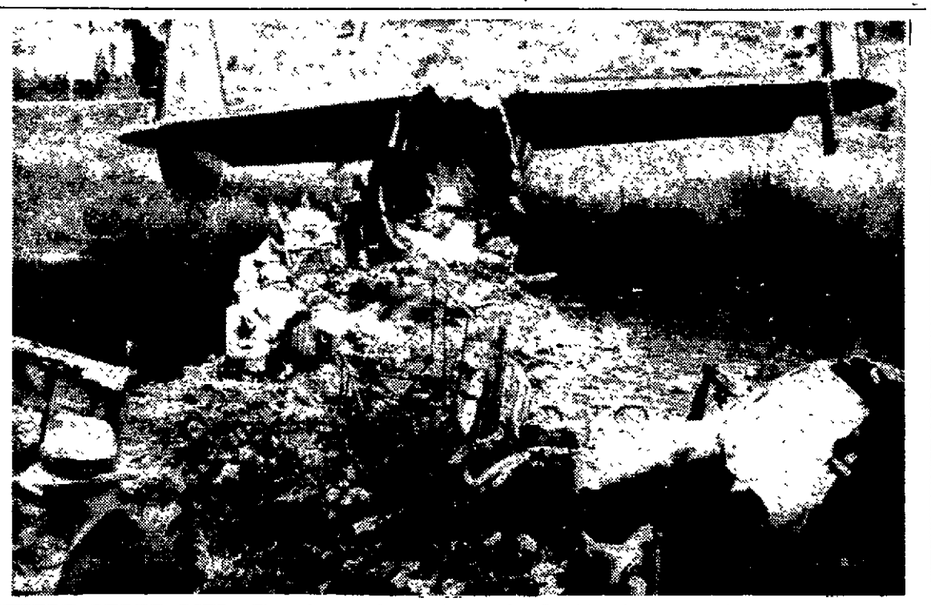
American and British officials said they took a grave view of the situation. Both have filed verbal and written protests with the Russians, charging that the maneuvers violate the blockade - lifting agreement.

Probe of FCC Meets Delay

An investigation of the Federal Communications commission which had been planned to start today, has been postponed by a subcommittee of the House of Representatives Judiciary committee, according to dispatches from Washington.

The FCC probe was deferred in favor of an investigation of U. S. monopolies which was undertaken by a special group of the House Judiciary committee today.

Rep. Francis E. Walker, who was to head the inquiry and who announced its delay, emphasized that he was postponing, but not abandoning the probe, according to Broadcasting Magazine, radio trade journal published in Washington.



WHERE THREE DIED—The shattered wreckage of a Lockheed plane which crashed and exploded near Roanoke, Ill., is shown above. The plane carried three persons, including C. H. Morse, III, vice-president of Fairbanks-Morse company, to their deaths. Capt. W. J. Haden, pilot, and Elmer West, co-pilot, were also killed. A fourth member of the party was thrown clear of the crash but suffered second degree burns.

Drop FM Radio Plan

WMAN Abandons Program Expansion

Mansfield is to continue without a frequency modulation (FM) radio station, it was announced today in Washington.

An FM radio license, granted a year and a half ago to Richland, Inc., operator of radio station WMAN here, has been given up voluntarily by that concern, according to an official announcement by the Federal Communications commission in Washington.

Eighteen months ago, the FCC granted the FM license to Richland, Inc., and subsequently also granted an FM license for Mansfield to Edward Lamb, Toledo lawyer who obtained five radio permits in two weeks from the FCC. Granting of radio licenses to Lamb touched off fireworks in Congress after it had been brought out that Lamb was author of a book praising Soviet Russia. He subsequently was charged on the floor of Congress with having affiliations with communist "front" organizations in U. S.

After receiving an FM radio station construction permit from the FCC, Richland, Inc., had obtained an extension of time on its radio station building plans, and this was followed by its relinquishing of the permit entirely.

In asking to have its FM permit cancelled, WMAN claimed that newspaper competition "deprives us of any opportunity of receiving advertising on our FM station" and also asserted that Mansfield had an "unemployment situation, one out of every three industrial workers being unemployed."

The FCC, which had extended WMAN's permit to allow for completion of the proposed FM station this month, agreed to allow WMAN to cancel its FM obligations.

Dems Call Caucus

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A caucus tomorrow of all House Democrats will strive to organize a drive behind legislation that would permit a "trial run" of controversial farm subsidies. The rally of Democrats will seek to bring order into the wide confusion over farm legislation.

Biddle Hailed As Hero

Cruiser Explodes, 2 Officers Killed

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The general who headed the Army's public relations and a retired Navy officer were killed when a cabin cruiser exploded on the Potomac river yesterday.

The dead: Maj. Gen. Vernon E. Prichard, 57, and Commodore Wilfred L. Painter, 41. USNR.

Navy Captain Sergius N. F. Loboshez and Johannes Johannesen, 40, steward at the fashionable Corinthian Yacht club, were carried on hospital critical lists today.

Eyewitnesses credited Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, one of those aboard, with great personal courage.

Biddle, soldier, athlete and diplomat, told reporters the 50-foot cruiser Halcyon was just pulling away from the Yacht club dock en route down the Potomac when the explosion occurred.

"I was standing on the bow of the boat with my wife and Mrs. Prichard," Biddle said. "We weren't more than two or three yards from the dock when we heard this huge explosion, and the three of us were shot into the river. There was a lot of debris and flame.

"I swam to my wife and brought her to the dock posts and then grabbed Mrs. Prichard. Both of them were dazed, and I guess I was, too. Then I joined someone else in the water who said that General Prichard had gone down. We dived under and I grabbed him just a few feet beneath the surface and pulled him to shore."

Harbor police theorized that gas fumes collected around the boat's engine during refueling, and exploded when the engine was started.

All of the ten persons aboard were hurtled into the water. Most of them escaped with minor injuries.

Will Use Trucks

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The New York Central system will start using tractor-trailers tomorrow to speed handling of rail freight on its lines in Ohio.

Two of them, Stanley Williams and Eugene Cochrane, seek re-election. Harold Brokaw is seeking a first term on the board.

Other petitions filed, with the county board of elections include C. C. Cole and V. G. Dudley, for the posts of trustees of Mifflin township; and Fred Yunker and J. J. Patterson, for the jobs of trustees of Springfield township.

Charles A. Stoner and Carleton M. Smith filed petitions for positions on the Mifflin school board.

Board Clerk Thomas R. Zeigler of the board of elections said the deadline for filing petitions for board of education, village and township offices is 6:30 p. m. Aug. 10.

Cross Picket Line To Unload Vessel

HONOLULU — (UP) — Thirty workmen crossed a token picket line of striking CIO longshoremen today to resume unloading a cargo of tinplate vitally needed in canning Hawaii's fast-ripening pineapple crop.

U. S. Marshal Otto Heine, under whose orders the unloading was being carried out, estimated 2,500 tons would be removed by tonight from the vessel Hawaiian Citizen.

Picked Dangerous 'Victim'

Driver Crashes Into Sheriff's Car

A new sheriff's cruiser was struck early Sunday at the intersection of Grace street and Indiana avenue, resulting in damages of "more than $500" to the cruiser, Sheriff E. P. Long reported today.

Deputies filed charges against both the driver of the other car, Phillip R. Bosler, and his passenger, Theodore Cooper. Both gave their ages as 25 and both men were under the influence of alcohol.

Deputies said the Bosler car struck a new cruiser at 3:15 a. m. yesterday as the cruiser, moved east in Grace street, at the Indiana avenue intersection. The deputies in the cruiser, Harold Aston and Tony Cappadonna, said the Bosler car was "traveling at a high rate of speed." Bosler was going north on Indiana avenue.

Long said the left side of the cruiser was badly damaged and that the repair estimate of "more than $500" was a rough estimate. No one was injured in the accident.

In Municipal court today, Bosler was fined $75 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for six months, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. Cooper was fined $5 and costs for intoxication.

Lausche Blasts 'Clubs'

Opens 'War' After Raid

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Illegally operated nightclubs were threatened by Gov. Frank J. Lausche today with an attack mounting "every power the state possesses."

State liquor agents had hardly completed their reports yesterday on a raid on the sleek Mounds club in Lake county before the governor let loose his blast.

He said that "regardless of what the legislature does," he would fight to "drive out of existence" night spots not abiding by the law.

Specifically, he mentioned the Pettibone club in Geauga county, the Jungle Inn in Trumbull county, the Benore club in Lucas county and the Continental club in Lawrence county.

"We will find out if they are paying their premiums to the workmen's compensation law and the unemployment compensation law and whether they are abiding with fire safety and restaurant cleanliness laws," the governor asserted.

In addition, he threatened, the State Public Utilities commission will be used to stop services to the clubs. The state highway patrol will check the drivers' licenses of automobiles parked at the taverns under investigation.

Four employes were arrested in the Mounds club raid late Saturday night. Although notorious for years as a sleek gambling spot, the club had never before experienced a raid that resulted in arrests.

Led by state liquor enforcement chief Anthony A. Rutkowski, eight agents entered after a 15-minute delay at the door and found more than 500 patrons, but no gambling.

Rutkowski said they did find, however, a bottle of cognac, 32 bottles of wine, a partly-filled bottle of rum, smashed whiskey glasses and "the makings" for drinks.

While his men waited outside with the search warrant, he said, the sound of bottles being broken could be heard.

Arrested were Tom Farley, about 50, who said he was the club manager; Emil Ray Rehart, a bartender, and Norman Petite and Norman Petite jr., two guards.

Rutkowski said Farley would be charged with keeping a place for illegal sale of liquor and Rehart with illegal possession of liquor for sale.

5 City Men To Qualify

Mansfield appeared sure of at least five qualifiers at noon today in the 43rd Ohio Amateur golf tournament at Westbrook country club.

Arnie Adams, Dale Rose and Bob Carpenter had already completed their 18-hole rounds with scores of 76, 74 and 79. On the basis of early scores an 80 or 81 should make the top 90 which go into tomorrow's play.

Two other Mansfield men were well on their way towards qualifying. Al Hager passed the nine-hole turn with a three-under-par 33 and Carl Wiseman had a one-over 37 at the same spot.

Defending champion Harold Paddock, Cleveland, hit the turn with a 33 and may battle it out with Hager for first-day medalist honors. Medalist of scores already in was Richard Evans, Shaker Heights, who played in regulation figures of 36-36—72.

M. D. Ward of Mansfield came in with a 41-39—80 and stood a good chance of making the top ninety but Bob Cruickshank appeared out with a 39-45—84.

Twenty Mansfielders are among the 182 Ohio golfers competing in the week-long tournament. Ted Etzel, Mansfield public links star, withdrew from the competition today. Rated as one of the favorites, Etzel dropped out after the death of his mother, Mrs. John Etzel, yesterday.

Although the Westbrook links were in good shape, the huge field of golfers was troubled by the rolling and tricky greens.

Congress Gets 11-Point Plan For Economy

By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Truman scrapped his demand for a four-billion dollar tax increase today and called on the present session of Congress to enact an eleven-point anti-recession program.

In his semi-annual economic report to Congress, the chief executive completely reversed himself on tax policies by declaring that "no major increase in taxes should be undertaken at this time" because it might hurt business.

Mr. Truman acknowledged that there has been some falling off in employment, production and prices from the post-war peak of a few months ago.

But he declared that the decline has been "moderate" and the opportunity is present to reverse the trend and achieve maximum production and consumption through positive action by business and government.

He described the national economy as being in a "transition period" but said it is still the "strongest and most productive.

The President warned against undue pessimism in business. He said:

"We cannot have prosperity by getting adjusted to the idea of depression—by cutting investment or employment or wages or essential government programs."

He called again for a 75 cents-an-hour minimum wage law and declared that wages and production must be kept high to achieve a full-employment economy. Teamwork by the government, industry, labor and the farmer, he said, could achieve within a few years a national output "well above 300 billion dollars."

Mr. Truman reported there has been only a three percent decline in consumers prices from the all-time peak, but that farm prices have declined eight percent. He urged Congress to enact an "improved" program of farm income supports.

NO ERP SLASH

The President made it plain that expenditures for national defense and for the European Recovery program cannot be cut at this time because of the "paramount importance" of these projects.

In discarding his request for a four billion dollar tax increase, he explained that any major tax increase now would bring undue hardship on business.

Here is his plan for combating any further downward trend in the nation's over-all economy:

"1 Repeal the tax of the transportation of goods, liberalize the provisions for carry-over of losses by corporations, and raise estate and gift taxes. No major increase in taxes should be undertaken at this time.

"2 Extend the maximum time limit now fixed by law on the maturity of loans to business made by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

"3 Provide for a broad study of investments and development needs and market opportunities in an expanding economy.

"4 Adopt an improved program of farm income supports.

"5 Increase the minimum wage to at least 75 cents an hour and broaden its coverage.

"6 Strengthen the unemployment compensation system by increasing the amount and duration of benefits, and extending coverage.

"7 Extend to July 25, 1950, the availability of readjustment allowances for veterans not protected by state unemployment compensation laws.

"8 Raise benefits and extend coverage under the old-age and survivors insurance system and improve the public assistance program.

"10 Enact legislation to provide technical assistance to underdeveloped areas abroad and to encourage investment in such areas.

"11 Restore the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act."

Britain In State of Emergency

King George Acts In Dock Strike

LONDON — (INS) — King George VI signed a decree proclaiming a state of emergency today to break London's crippling dock strike.

A force of 1,700 troops already is unloading ships at the London docks. Twelve thousand dock workers quit their jobs after voting against unloading two Canadian ships in port.

Press Association said that Prime Minister Clement Attlee will read the emergency proclamation to Parliament this afternoon.

The proclamation was reportedly issued by King George VI who returned to Buckingham Palace from his summer home at Windsor to preside over a privy council meeting.

Press association reported that the king signed the emergency proclamation at the privy council session.

Home Secretary Chue Ede was reported drawing up emergency regulations with the object of safeguarding food, water, transportation and other essential services.

The dock workers passed a resolution at a mass meeting declaring their "hands off" policy of the Canadian vessels involved in the Canadian Seaman's union jurisdictional dispute despite government warnings that an emergency would be declared.

The resolution, which carried with only one opposing vote, was tantamount to a complete defiance of the government which told strikers they must not discriminate against any of the 125 ships now idle in London's ports.

Builds Own Scaffold; Hangs Self

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — William Horner, aged 51, hanged himself while at work at Republic Steel corporation after using a crane to build his own scaffold from huge steel bars early Sunday morning.

It was learned that fellow-workmen noticed Horner placing big steel bars in eight-foot piles with his crane as was normal. He then placed bars over the opening across these piles.

After a break in the work period, the men in Horner's department found they had no craneman. Sometime later they saw the shadow and later the body of Horner swinging from a short rope tied around the steel bars he had placed between two piles.

Horner left two notes, one addressed to the company and another to his family. In these he is said to have mentioned ill health.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, —(AP) —Premier Marshal Tito last night said Yugoslavia plans to seal its border with Greece.

Freighter Aground, Guard Answers SOS

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— The Greek freighter Ioannis G. Kulukumdis ran aground on the Southern California coast early today and sent out an SOS to which the coast guard was responding.

The 7,136-ton Greek vessel hit the shore five and one-third miles north of Point Arguello at a point approximately 185 miles northwest of Los Angeles, but was apparently not in immediate danger of breaking up.

Woman Makes Success of Paper In Man's Field of Endeavor

MILDRED GAINEY laughs when she hears members of her sex complain about prejudice against women in industry.

The complaints amuse her. Because in two years, starting from nothing, she has built up a $250,000 business. And she did it in a man's field—the construction industry.

"Being a woman was far from a handicap," she smiled. "It has been a positive help."

She founded her business — Gainey's Construction Newsletter—at the age of 47. Today, headquartering in Boston, she distributes to more than 1,000 customers a 30 to 40-page daily bulletin on building activities throughout New England.

"We serve as a kind of information center for the construction industry," she said. So far as she knows, she is the only woman editor of a construction publication in this country.

"Some people say it's an odd field for a woman to be in," she said. "But I don't feel that way. I feel at home in it."

She has been in the field for 31 years. After graduating from high school she went to work in the office of a Boston publication specializing in regional industry news. When it was sold in 1945 to a nationwide firm Miss Gainey — in private life Mrs. James William Reardon — decided it was time to retire.

"But I quickly became bored," she said. "I had too much time on my hands. I didn't know what to do with myself. And old customers of the firm I worked for kept phoning and urging me to go into business for myself. So I decided to try."

She began in April 1947, with a phone, a mimeograph machine, a typewriter and an office cubicle.

"I wasn't worried about competing with big business," she said. "I fugured my service would sell wider if it were cheaper, so I cut the cost of my newsletter to about one third the price charged by my competitor. And from the start I concentrated on giving mu customers personalized service."

Now she has an office staff of 35 fulltime employes and 75 correspondents scattered across the New England states. They keep a day-to-day check on the progress of the region's $2,000,000,000 backlog of building projects.

Her newsletters tell plumbers where there is potential work in their area. Architects, contractors, sub contractors, office equipment firms, railroads, furniture dealers, insurance companies — all get customer tips from her bulletins.

A long acquaintance with hundreds of persons in the construction field is one of Miss Gainey's chief advantages.

"Whenever we know of a specific project anyone is interested in we give him a personal call," she said. As soon as bids are asked on a building project, she gets the plans and specifications and keeps them on file in her office. Subscribers who want to bid can come there and check them at their leisure.

Miss Gainey, whose business is increasing steadily, is optimistic about the future.

"There is a boom ahead in public building and highway construction," she said.

A pleasant, blue-eyed woman of 49, Miss Gainey still does all her own housework — and likes it.

What is the biggest asset of women in industry?

"Friendliness," she said. "That will overcome any handicap."

$40,000 Fire Hits Phone Firm

1,300 Lines Out At Bucyrus

BUCYRUS—A $40,000 fire Sunday noon destroyed two automatic switchboards at the Bucyrus Telephone company and put 1,300 phones out of service. Two long distance operators in the building at the time of the blaze escaped injury. The fire was confined to the one section of the building.

The operators who escaped injury were Mrs. William Barklow and Miss Dorothy Kent, both of Bucyrus.

Fire Chief William Mader said origin of the fire was unknown but that he believed a short circuit caused it.

M. R. Schneider, manager of the phone company, estimated the damage and said it would require a week to 10 days to replace the switchboards. Schneider said 2,800 other local phones were not affected by the break in service but the 6,000 and 9,000 serives of numbers are out of service temporarily.

The phone company building is located at 122 South Walnut street. Firemen answered the alarm at 12:15 p. m. Sunday and it was under control within 15 minutes.

Link 2 Robberies With OSR Escaper

BULLETIN

Mansfield reformatory prisoner's garb, consisting of a shirt and red-striped trousers, was found behind a brush heap at the rear of the Snowhite Dry Cleaning plant in Shelby shortly before noon today. Police Chief LeRoy Coffey said the discovery of the clothing established that the burglary was made by a reformatory fugitive. The chief added that the convict is probably wearing a green shirt and grey plaid trousers found to be missing since the burglary of the plant early Sunday.

Burglaries of a farm home near Mansfield and a Shelby dry cleaning plant during the week-end pointed today to a 20-year-old Mansfield reformatory fugitive who escaped the institution farm late Saturday.

Shelby police said they believed the dry cleaning plant intruder was a convict since a pair of trousers were believed stolen between 3:30 and 3:45 a. m. Sunday morning. The burglary occurred at the Snowhite Dry Cleaners on the outskirts of Shelby.

A gray-checked smock coat, found outside a window at the plant where the thief was believed to have gained entrance, was to be taken to the OSR today for possible identification.

OSR officials named the escaper as Richard Zacker of Cuyahoga county, received at the OSR on Sept. 24, 1948, to serve one to 15 years for burglary. Zacker was discovered missing from the farm about 8 p. m. Saturday.

Meanwhile, sheriff's deputies here reported that $15 in cash had been stolen from the farm home of Charles Raiser, Shelby, R. D. 1, about 9:30 p. m. yesterday. Deputies indicated there might be a link in the home burglary and the OSR escape.

Raiser, who lives on State Route 178, two miles north of Mansfield, told deputies the cash was taken from a cupboard in the bedroom, but that $10 in nickels had been overlooked by the burglar. Raiser said he believed the thief was in the home at the time he returned and was frightened away before he had time to continue a search of the house.

Deputies said entrance to the house was gained by breaking out the glass in a south door.

The Snowhite Dry Cleaning plant in Shelby was entered after a rear window on the northeast side of the plant was broken out. Shelby police said the burglar left by removing the hasps on two large doors on the south side of the building. Tools used were those left on a work bench in the cleaning room, officers said.

The burglary was discovered by Shelby Police Officer George Wiley on a routine check.

Death Takes Mrs. Etzel

Mrs. Rose Etzel, 53, wife of John Etzel, 141 Wolfe avenue, died at General hospital yesterday, following an illness of about a year.

Mrs. Etzel was born in Detta, Hungary, Feb. 23, 1869, and came to Mansfield 36 years ago. She was a member of the First Lutheran church.

Real Estate Tax Payments Near $500,000

County Treasurer Charles C. Payne expected to see the second-half real estate tax collection top the half-million dollar mark today. The collection now stands at $481,887, including Saturday's payments of $30,296.

However. Payne emphasized that the collection isn't too good, considering that he must collect a tax charge of $1,154,933 by July 20.

For the convenience of taxpayers the treasurer's office in the courthouse will remain open until 4 p. m. Saturday. Payne also urged payments by mail.

And he pointed out that taxpayers can make use of the "after hours" payment box at his office, which permits payment of taxes by enclosing the statement and check or money in envelopes available outside his office. The treasurer's office closes daily at 4 p. m., but the courthouse doors are not locked until 6 p. m.

Hathaway, a graduate of Ohio State university, also has a master's degree from the same school. Robinson said that Mrs. Hathaway has been hired as a teacher at Butler.

The new superintendent replaced P. I. Van Brunt, who had accepted the job, but resigned to take a similar position in Geauga county.

Liberty Park Pool Closed

Heavy Attendance Brings Clean-Up

Liberty Park swimming pool will be closed until Wednesday morning for cleaning, Park Superintendent Frank Burton announced today.

The pool was to be drained this afternoon and will be scrubbed Tuesday, Burton said.

Ordinarily the pool is cleaned only at the opening of the swimming season, but the heavy attendance this year has made the mid-season cleaning necessary, Burton said.

The pool has operated at double capacity most of the season, he added.

Meanwhile, repairs to the filter plant and pump at the other city operated swimming pool at North Lake park are being made.

No date has been set for the re-opening of that pool.

Traffic Mishaps Kill 10

Two Struck By Lightning

(By Associated Press)

Ohio today recorded 15 more week-end accidental deaths—the toll of two days marked by thunderstorms that brought a measure of relief from the prolonged heat wave.

At least 10 Ohio fatalities were attributed to traffic mishaps. Two were from lightning during Saturday storms, two from drowning and one from a household accident.

The victim in the latter was three-year-old Shelly Ann Hixon. She was electrocuted Saturday when she touched a live lamp cord in the living room of the Hixon home at Akron.

The other victims included:

Drownings:

Charles Clark of Cheshire (Gallia county), Saturday in the Ohio river near his home.

Joe Oldiges, 13, in the Ohio river at Cincinnati.

From lightnings:

Harold Edinger, 38, of Columbus.

Jule Marie Aicher, 11, of Newtonsville (Clermont county).

Traffic:

Wilma Knisel, 24, of Toledo Saturday when the car in which she was riding hit a tree east of Bono.

Corbett Walsh, 15, of Springfield, Sunday when his bicycle was struck by a car.

Randolph Riley, 44, of Grove City, Saturday when his car collided with a bus south of Columbus.

Marian W. Bame, 74, of Lima, Saturday in an auto collision at Dayton.

Auto Hits Pedestrian

A Mansfield pedestrian, Norman Brown, 42, of RD 3, was seriously injured at noon yesterday when he was struck by a car driven by John C. Fetter, 26, of 69 East Fourth street, according to police reports.

Fetter was not held by police following the accident, but was arrested later in the afternoon on charges of unsafe operation of a vehicle after he had sideswiped one car and backed into another.

According to police, Fetter ran into Brown at the intersection of East Fifth street and Adams avenue. Vernon Newlon, RD 5, said Brown had started across, then kneeled in the center of the street. As Newlon stopped to see what was the matter, he said, Fetter pulled around him to make a left hand turn onto Adams and struck Brown.

Brown is listed as being in "fair condition" at General hospital. He suffered a possible fractured back.

Fetter said he did not see Brown but felt a "bump".

Fetter's drivers license was suspended for 30 days in Municipal Court this morning and he was fined $15 and costs in connection with the sideswiping of a car driven by Hugh A. Keller, 80, of Ashland, on South Park street. In backing up after this collision, police reports said, Fetter backed into another car, this one being driven by Mrs. Dell Rood of Mt. Gilead.

350 Hear Rev. Hagelbarger At Second Outdoor Service

Nearly 300 Mansfielders gathered under the trees in South park last evening to hear Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, speak at this year's second outdoor vesper service.

In addition to those seated on the grounds, at least 50 others listened to the service from their parked cars.

Rev. Hagelbarger told his audience, "human nature can be changed for better or for the worse."

Speaking of "Finding Our Best Selves," he said the idea of split or disintegrated personalities is old and universal.

In developing his subject, he said he was taking for granted two things, "that we all have more than one self and that human nature can be changed."

He added, "We need not change our position or job, we can begin where we are to give expression to our best selves."

Rev. Hagelbarger concluded, "The lower and higher self struggle in every life. We must make our lower self serve that higher self."

Music for the service included "He Smiled on Me," sung by the chapel choir of the First Christian church; and "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," a solo by Mrs. Jay Chubbs.

The outdoor evening services are being held for nine consecutive Sundays in South park under the auspices of the Mansfield Ministerial association.

90 Golfers To Qualify In 1st Round

By CHARLEY STINE

The 43rd annual Ohio Amateur tournament got under way at 8 a. m. today at Westbrook Country club as 183 golfers began teeing off in a 12-hour links spectacle.

Threesomes were scheduled to leave the tee every eight minutes until 4 p. m. and the late starters should complete their rounds shortly before dusk.

The course appeared in its best shape of the season as most of the competitors took a practice swing around the 18 holes yesterday. Special spots on the greens have been saved for the tournament and the pins were moved there last night.

Eighteen holes will be played by all 183 entrants today with the field being cut to the low 90 and ties. The 90 will play 18 more holes tomorrow in a battle for the 63 match play berths open. The 64th belongs to defending champion Harold Paddock without his having to qualify.

Ohio Golf association Secretary E. H. (Sockeye) Davis said yesterday that a sudden death playoff will be held Tuesday evening in case a tie exists for the 63 spots. Such a situation is highly probable.

Davis is to serve on the tournament rules committee along with Westbrook Pro Tom Raklets and Bob Moorhead. Mrs. Bob Kepler, wife of the Ohio State university golf coach is to operate the scoreboard with Elmer Stitt of Dayton serving as the official starter.

SOME NEW CADDIES

A shortage of caddies was feared for the tournament but some new boys have been added and it was unlikely that any of the competitors would have to tote his own bag.

The annual banquet of the Ohio Golf association will be held at the club tomorrow night. Pairings for the beginning of Wednesday's match play will be announced at that time. Presentation of the medalist trophy will also be made.

The fine condition of the course and the large size of the field may play a part in setting a new course record. The present official mark is a 65 set by club champion Al Hager in 1944 but some of the best links artists in the state will be out to break the mark. Hager is among the 21 local men in the meet.

Predictions of the score necessary to qualify in the top 90 today ranged anywhere from 78 to 80. A majority of the experts seemed to favor the lower figure.

One 18-hole match will be played Wednesday by each of the 64 players, cutting the field to 32. Two matches daily will go Thursday and Friday with the two finalists meeting over the 36-hole route Saturday.

FORMER CHAMPS READY—Two former champions are among the field of 183 golfers who tee off today at Westbrook in quest of the Ohio Amateur championship. Both were here for practice rounds yesterday. Harold Paddock, defending champ, left, reported trouble with Westbrook's tricky greens. Ed Preisler, right, who won the title in 1946, is shown handing his clubs to Caddy Jimmy Hager. Jokester Gives Bum Weather Data To Sabotage Game

NEW LONDON—New London's scheduled baseball game with Akron Naval Air station here last night was sabotaged!

A crowd of 400 fans were on hand at game-time but the Akron team failed to show. A hasty call to Akron revealed the sabotage by some New London prankster.

The prankster had called Akron in mid-afternoon and reported a heavy rain at New London. The field is under water," said the anonymous prankster, "and the game has been called off."

It did not rain in New London yesterday and the playing field was bone dry.

Rancher Wants To Buy Tribe

GUNNISON, Colo. — (AP) — A Colorado rancher who's done all right raising cattle would like to put his brand on the Cleveland Indians.

Despite a denial from tribe President Bill Veeck that any deal is cooking, the rancher, Dan Thornton, insisted today that he wants to buy the Indians "if they're for sale and the price is right."

Veeck said in Chicago that he has never heard of Thornton.

"I would say there is about as much chance of my buying Thornton's cattle business as there is of him buying the Indians—and I am not interested in cattle," Veeck said.

Gregorio, Hammett Pitch Penn Autos To 4-0 Win

Lou Gregorio and Jack Hammett combined talents to pitch Penn Auto-Sporting Goods to a 4-0 victory over the Creston Pirates yesterday at Blue Goose park.

Gregorio worked the first four innings of the shutout but developed a sore arm and had to be removed. Hammett came on in the fifth and continued the fine work. Creston got only five singles for the entire route.

Penn scored all of its runs in the fifth inning to give Hammett credit for the victory. Walks to Dick Poth, Red Hamman and Warren Hammett combined with singles by Don Hardy, Jim Guest, Wilbur Wade, Shelly Swank and Tick Hamilton produced the tallies.

It was the eighth victory against six defeats for the Autos. They will play at Huron at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday night and be host to the Shelby Blues at 5:30 Friday.

Manager Lefty Deeds reported after the game that he did not believe Gregorio's arm trouble to be serious and that the little fast-baller would probably hurl Wednesday's game.

Madison Hill Artist Ruins Own No-Hitter

Dick Poth pitched Madison township to a 10-0 victory over Perrysville at Blue Goose park yesterday afternoon.

Poth had things in command all the way and beat himself out of a no-hit game with his own fielding lapse. The only base hit was a bunt which was fielded by first-baseman Joe Distl. Distl tossed to Dick Ernsberger covering first but Poth, not seeing Ernsberger, cut in between to take the throw. He missed the base and the play went for a hit.

A meeting of all Central Ohio Junior league managers will be held at the court house tomorrow. Madison is to play at Bellville tonight.

New York 9's In Big Benefit

NEW YORK — (INS) — Stars of many sports will perform at Yankee stadium tonight in baseball's biggest benefit, the "night of champions."

The Athletes are joining forces to raise money for charity in memory of the game's immortals — Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Herb Pennock.

The feature event will be a three-way round robin for the New York City championship among Father Knickerbocker's three major league teams. First the Giants and Dodgers will play three innings, then the Giants will take on the Yankees for three frames. Finally, the Yanks will play the Dodgers three innings.

Mansfield Hawks Clinch League Tie

The Mansfield Hawks clinched at least a tie for the first half of Richland County league championship yesterday as they thumped the Shelby Merchants, 9-2, at Tillman park.

The victory for the Hawks was their fourth against one defeat in league play. Lucas has a 4-2 record for second place and the Hawks need only to win a postponed game with Lexington to nail down the title. Should the Hawks lose they would play off with Lucas for the first half bunting.

Ralph Majors and Eugene Owens were the big guns in the Hawks attack as they hit home runs. Majors drove in five tallies with the homer and a double. Owens' wallop was his sixth of the season. John Stokes set Shelby down with four hits.

In the only other league game played, Lexington beat T. and E. Tavern, 6-1, at Liberty park to move into a tie for third place. The game was the first half of a double-header for both clubs as T. and E. then played host to Greenwich and Lexington went home to meet Lucas.

The Taverns pulled their game with Greenwich out of the fire with four runs in the sixth inning as they won 8-3. Ernie Tinkey scattered seven hits while he and his mates collected nine. Jerry Novacic led with two triples.

LEXINGTON WINS

Lexington won its second game, a non-league tilt, by a 13-11 count. The host team scored 12 runs in the first three innings and then outlasted a late Lucas surge. Worthley of Lexington and Doggett of Lucas each got four hits in five times at bat.

Chug Floro Struck By Baseball Bat

Chug Floro of Mansfield, catcher for the Lima Chiefs of the Ohio-Indiana league, escaped serious injury Saturday night when he was struck by a bat during a game with Marion.

Bob Brigham, Marion outfielder, took a full swing at a ball and the flat end of the bat connected with Floro's jaw. Flora was unconscious for five minutes. He was x-rayed for a possible fractured jaw at Lima Memorial hospital and then released.

Script Is Changed As National Has Sluggers

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK — (UP) — They switched the script for this year's all-star baseball game so it will be unusual national league home run power against American league pitching strength when the clubs square off in Brooklyn tomorrow for the 16th annual celestial clambake.

Always before this clash has been billed as a match between those old American league slugging stalwarts — The Hank Greenberg, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams crowd against such national league hurling behemoths as Carl Hubbell, Dizzy Dean, Johnny Vandermeer and Lon Warneke in their prime.

This year, however, the power boys are lugging national league bats. By mandate of the 4,637,000 fans who named the two starting lineups, the eight national leaguers, exclusive of the pitcher, have collected 96 homers to date this season as against a total of 82 for the American league starters.

There are four cleanup hitters in the national league batting

Bob Feller Wins Fifth Straight for Cleveland

Tribe Builds Lead Over 3rd-Place A's

DAYTON —(AP)—Things are looking up for the Cleveland Indians in a number of ways.

Bob Feller, by defeating St. Louis 7-4 yesterday, became a .500 pitcher again with a record of six wins against an equal number of losses.

The ball club, which has won eight of nine games, is in its strongest position since early in the season. Yesterday's victory coupled with a rainout of the New York Yankee game and a double defeat for Philadelphia's Athletics moved the Tribe within five and a half games of the league leaders and gave them a game and a half edge over the A's.

Lou Boudreau, Larry Doby, Dale Mitchell and other Tribe standouts are beginning to hit the ball hard and at the right times.

In the first inning, the Browns conked Feller for three hits which with an error were good for three runs. There have been periods this year when Manager Boudreau could have taken his club home for all the good going on with the game would have done. Once behind, the Tribe stayed behind.

Yesterday, however, the Indians bounced right back into the fight. Joe Gordon's walk and Boudreau's double together with singles by Jim Hegan and Mitchell gave the Tribe two runs. They tied the score 3-3 in the third and went ahead with a three-run burst in the fifth.

Jack Graham's second home run of the game in the sixth was an awe inspiring sock on top of the right field stands, but Feller held and the game was called off in the seventh because of rain.

In the last nine games, the Tribe has come from behind to win four times.

BOUDREAU OUTSTANDING

Boudreau has been outstanding in the surge. Two hits in three trips yesterday raised his average another five points to .286. He also batted in two runs and scored a pair.

Mitchell and Doby, who also had two blows apiece, moved their averages up from .316 and .274 respectively. Doby with 53 runs batted in is leading the team in that department. He is tied in home runs with Joe Gordon. They each have 13.

Feller now has won five straight victories. He may not be the old-time strikeout king, but by pitching in his turn Feller may yet come close to the 20 victory mark. He allowed the Browns six hits and was in trouble only in the first inning when a throwing error by Ray Boone made all three of the runs unearned.

A part of the team will meet the Dayton Indians in an exhibition game tonight. Steve O'Neil will manage the Tribe in the game against their farm club.

Boudreau and Coaches Muddy Ruel and Bill McKechnie boarded a plane for the all-star game at Brooklyn after the game yesterday. Joe Gordon and Larry Doby boarded the same plane. Others in the all-star party took a train.

Ray Robinson Set To Defend Boxing Crown

By JACK CUDDY

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — Ray (Sugar) Robinson, threatened as much by weight-weakness as by his challenger's fists, was scheduled to defend his world welterweight championship tonight against Cuban Kid Gavilan in the huge Municipal stadium.

Favored by the forecast of fair, clear weather, the promoters hoped for a crowd of 35,000 and a gate of $165,000.

Robinson, a tall, slender New York Negro — appeared skinny and drawn when he arrived in Philadelphia last night from Pompton lakes, N. J., where he had undergone a three-week training grind designed primarily to pare him down to the welterweight limit of 147 pounds.

He went through an extra four-round sparring session at his camp yesterday to keep close to the weight.

Although Sugar Ray might be weakened by the weight-making, he was still favored at 8-5 to make a successful fourth defense of the crown he won by beating Tommy Bell Dec. 20, 1946.

Because of his remarkable record, the 28-year-old champion was favored over the 23-year-old challenger from the sugar plantations of Camaguey, Cuba. Nevertheless, brown-skinned Gavilan was generally recognized as one of the most dangerous opponents Robinson ever faced — because of his speed, youthful stamina, bobaweave style, and unusual ruggedness.

STIFF OPPOSITION

The well-proportioned Cuban gave Robinson unexpectedly stiff opposition in their 10-round non-title bout at New York's Yankee stadium last September.

Since that September bout, Gavilan clicked off seven straight victories, including two non-title triumphs over lightweight champion Ike Williams, a murderous hooker.

If Gavilan wins the crown tonight, he must give Sugar Ray a return title shot at the Municipal stadium Sept. 12.

Cary Middlecoff Wins Golf Crown By Single Stroke

READING, Pa. — (UP) — It was the same old story for Sammy Snead today. His putting cost him another golf tournament — the Reading open, won by Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis molar mender.

Snead, PAG and masters king, missed tying Middlecoff at 266 for the 72-hole tournament by inches yesterday. Slammin' Sammy was putting four feet out on the 18th hole in an effort to match Middlecoff's birdie three and his final-round 66. He tapped the ball and it rolled ahead, reached the lip of the cup and hung.

The miscue forces Snead into another stroke—the last of the tournament—and gave him a 267 total for runner-up honors. Middlecoff, 15 minutes earlier, had holed out on the 18th by sinking a six-foot putt.

Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., finished in third place by firing a 66 for a four-day aggregate of 274.

Wendland Top Archer In Middle Park Shoot

Walter Wendland fired a 394 score yesterday to take Mansfield Archery club shoot at Middle park.

In an "American round," Wendland had 108 points at 60 yards, 116 at 50 and 170 at 40. Bob Davis was second with 41-71-121—233. Other scores included: Ross Hakes, 201; Fred Thar 186; Maurice Taylor, 184 and John Leach, 167.

LEESVILLE — The Leesville Reds scored in the bottom half of the ninth inning here yesterday to defeat the Tiffin Mud Hens, 4-3.

Brooklyn Infield Carries Big Load In Pennant Race

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Pennants are won by great pitching staffs—but the Brooklyn Dodgers haven't one. So they are basing their flag hopes on a crackerjack infield—Gil Hodges, Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese and Billy Cox.

Robinson especially is singled out as the man who is doing the most to keep the citizens of Flatbush happy. But the other three are contributing heavily to the cause.

Jackie, first Negro to play in the majors, is the Dodgers' chief offensive threat. The all-star second baseman leads the majors in hitting with a lofty .362 mark. He's tops in hits with 111 and in stolen bases with 20. He's tied with Hodges for National league runs batted in honors at 65. And second to Reese in runs scored with 68 to Pee Wee's 69.

Robinson came through in the clutch twice in the rain and mud at Ebbets field yesterday to help beat the New York Giants, 7-3, and keep the Dodgers in first place.

He singled with the bases loaded in the third to give the Dodgers a 2-1 lead and after the Giants had tied it, he singled home Duke Snider for what proved to be the winning run in the seventh.

A defeat would have dropped the Dodgers into second place as the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals scored a double triumph over the Reds in Cincinnati to cut the Brooklyn advantage to a half game.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen pitched the Red Birds to a 4-2 triumph in the opener and Lefty Al Brazle, with help in the ninth from Gerry Staley, downed the Reds, 7-4, in the final.

The last place Chicago Cubs smashed Pittsburgh's eight-game winning streak, blasting the Pirates, 8-6 and 9-6, at Forbes field.

PHIL BATTING STAR

Phil Cavarretta was the batting star in the opener, driving home five runs on a pair of triples, a double and single in the first game and a two run homer in the second. Ralph Kiner socked two four-baggers for the Pirates to increase his total to 23, best in the majors.

Rain postponed a game between the Boston Braves and Phils at Philadelphia and a doubleheader between the Yankees and Washington at New York.

Bobby Feller received credit for a 7-4 Cleveland triumph over the St. Louis Browns in a game that was called at the end of six innings because of rain. The second game was postponed.

The Boston Red Sox took a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-5 and 11-10, to stretch their winning streak to seven games.

Dom DiMaggio decided the first game with a three-run home run in the fourth inning. Sam Chapman clouted two homers and Hank Majeski one off Ellis Kinder for Philadelphia.

The second game was called because of darkness after the Philadelphia half of the eighth. Manager Connie Mack notified Plate Umpire Cal Hubbard he would profest the ruling.

Detroit and Chicago split a pair, the White Sox taking the opener, 4-2, and the Tigers the nightcap, 1-0, although held to two hits by Randy Gumpert.

Lefty Bill Wight held the Tigers to five blows in beating Hal Newhouser. Gumpert walked Pat Mullin in the first inning and then yielded a run-scoring double to Vic Wertz. Art Houtteman held the Sox to four singles.

Locke Plans Tourney Skip

TOLEDO — (INS) — Stanley McGiveran, chairman of the Inverness invitational tournament at Toledo, planned to contact Bobby Locke in England today concerning reports he would not return to the United States for two months.

"I doubt very much that Locke will stay in England for two months and cancel his American July tournament dates. We have a signed acceptance from Locke for the four ball matches in Toledo July 21-24.

"I am sure if Locke refuses to keep his American contract he will kill himself forever in United States tournaments," McGiveran said yesterday.

He added that a replacement for Locke had been made but would not be made public until he talked to Locke today.

'Ez' Charles Doesn't Feel Like Champion

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— Ezzard Charles admitted today that although he has national boxing association recognition he doesn't class homself as heavyweight champion of the world.

"How does it feel to be heavyweight champion?" The muscular Cincinnati clouter repeated as he encircled his slender waist with a massive silver belt, set with diamonds and rubies.

"I don't know. I got more satisfaction out of winning the golden gloves.

"I don't feel like the champion because too many people are talking about other fighters. When I beat the rest of them I'd probably feel different."

It was an honest admission as he donned the fabulous police gazette belt, emblematic of the heavyweight title, and posed for pictures to be sent to his fans.

It is his now. But he acted like a man trying it o for size. For Ezzard fingered the roll call of the mighty etched on its flashing plates—the names of Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries and the others who held it—almost as if in apology to those legendary gladiators of the past.

TWO MEN STAND

Two men stand between Charles and a feeling of championship completeness—Gus Lesnevich and Lee Savold. He'll tackle Lesnevich on Aug. 10 and, later, probably be matched with the winner of the London bout between Savold and Bruce Woodcock.

"If I can win those two I might feel different," he said soberly. "And I'm not making any rash claims, because anybody can beat you if they hit you right."

YESTERDAY'S STARS
(By Associated Press)

BATTING—Phil Cavaretta, Cubs—Drove home five runs on two triples, double and single to feature Chicago's 6-8 first game victory over Pittsburgh. Socked two-run homer to clinch 9-8 second game triumph.

Only other Ohio diamond star named by the coaches was Bob Weygant, shortstop for the Ohio State university nine, also to the third team.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

5 Innocence Pleas Made In Crawford

Indicted Persons Deny Allegations

BUCYRUS — Pleas of not guilty were entered here Saturday before Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl by five persons, indicted July 2 by the county grand jury.

Mrs. Olga Kyryl, 32, Mansfiled, through her attorney, Jerome Goldman of Cleveland, pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging her with operating an automobile without a driver's license.

At request of Attorney Goldman, the case will be heard here by the three-judge court on Aug. 17. Mrs. Kyryl was arrested June 11 by Bucyrus police. She furnished bond of $100 and was released.

Emery Fink of Wyandot county farmer, pleaded not guilty to a grand larceny indictment and was released in $500 bond. His trial was set for Aug. 9-10. Fink is charged with stealing a $500 combine on April 11 while it was in the custody of Carl Koch, Polk township constable.

John and Maude Willis of Richwood, indicted for obtaining property by false pretenses, entered pleas of not guilty and furnished bond of $3,000. Their trial was set for Sept. 20-22. They are charged with falsely pretending a horse they owned was a standard-bred race horse and trading it to Klink and Brooks, local horse dealers, for a $2,000 colt and $1,500 in cash.

Joseph A. Urban, residing east of Galion, pleaded not guilty to a malicious destruction of property indictment and his trial was set for Aug. 11-12. He is charged with pouring acid into a gas tank of a truck owned by John Eldred, Galion. He furnished bond of $1,000.

Gets Hearing On Dismissal

Dismissed Police Patrolman Roger C. Zimmerman, 26, of 484 South Diamond street, will present his case to the civil service commission at 7 p. m. today in the municipal court room, in an attempt to regain his job with the department.

The patrolman was dismissed from the department on June 13 after a hearing before Service-Safety Director Earl E. Garrison.

The action came after Luther Walker, 32, of Amoy, told municipal court Zimmerman had told him he would take care of a hit-skip accident in which Walker was involved.

Walker admitted he was driver of a car that struck and injured six-year-old Marcia McNaul of 57 State street, but he told the court that when he informed Zimmerman about the accident the patrolman told him "to forget about it."

Zimmerman has denied he had any knowledge that Walker was involved in the hit-skip.

Delay Hearing On Accident

Hearing for Michael Spino, 31, of Cleveland, charged with second degree manslaughter following a fatal automobile accident near Plymouth last week, was continued to Thursday by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler today.

Spino's attorney Theordor Lutz, requested the continuance at a municipal court hearing today. He is being held under $1,000 bond.

The charge was filed by the sheriff's office following an automobile - truck collision last Wednesday in which Walter Glenn Lehman, 52 - year - old Shelby farmer was fatally injured.

Mercury Drops To 58 Degrees

Mansfield's sizzling heat wave was handed a rude jolt at 6:30 a. m. today when a temperature of 58 degrees was recorded here.

The cooler temperatures will remain today and Tuesday, the weather bureau predicts.

However, some parts of the nation are still suffering from the intense heat. It was 111 degrees at Blythe, Calif. yesterday. High in Mansfield was 77 degrees.

Prices Barely Stir As Stock Market Holds Friday Levels

NEW YORK—(AP)—Prices barely stirred in today's stock market.

A wide range of leading stocks remained at Friday's closing levels or see-sawed between the plus and minus columns. Elsewhere fractional gains and losses were pretty evenly matched.

There was no immediate market response to the President's mid-year economic report to Congress.

Nickel Plate railroad, often a volatile stock, was one of the few issues to step out of the narrow price range. Sales were made at 63 down 3 points.

Guantanamo Sugar Preferred jumped 3 points to 99 following word the company planned to ask for tenders of the stock at a price not to exceed 100.

Also up were Republic steel, Goodyear , J. I. Case, Deere, Commonwealth Edison, Kennecott Copper, American Smelting, Du Pont, American Woolen, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chesapeake v Ohio, Louisville & Nashville, Pacific Western Oil, and Eastern Air Lines.

Seek Pact In Pacific

BAGUIO, PHILIPPINES — (UP) — The presidents of nationalist China and the Philippines called upon all Far Eastern countries today to band together in an anti-communist Pacific union.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China and President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines wound up a two-day conference with a proposal for a Pacific alliance for mutual assistance against what they called a grave communist menace.

Chiang and Quirino issued a joint communique at the end of their talks at the Philippines summer capital here. It said they had agreed on closer economic and cultural cooperation.

"We also discussed fully the imperativness of the coordinated and full development of the Far Eastern countries in order to insure their stability and security," the communique said.

"In view of the lack of close collaboration among them in the past, and considering the gravity of the communist menace which confronts their freedom and independence today, we deem it necessary that these countries at once should organize themselves in a union for the purpose of achieving solidarity and mutual assistance to contain and counteract that common threat."

2,000 Hear 2 Summer Concerts

Bands Open 1949 Series

Between 1,500 and 2,000 Mansfielders attended the two outdoor band concerts held in the city last night.

An estimated crowd of at least 1,500 attended the season's first summer concert at Stadium field where 40 musicians, under the direction of Dr. Louis Pete, of Ashland, presented a program of popular and semi-classical selections lasting an hour and a half.

At North Lake park the Eugene Smart music studio's accordion band and orchestra opened the 17th consecutive season the Smart musicians have appeared for summer concerts at the park.

A large crowd gathered around the band stand at the water's edge and others listened from parked cars. Because the crowd was scattered around the park, it was not possible to make an accurate estimate, but Smart said it was the largest crowd ever to attend an opening concert.

Especially popular at the concert at Stadium Field were the vocal selections by Miss Patti Mosher, soloist. Miss Mosher is a student at Ashland college.

At North Lake park the crowd applauded the songs of eight-year-old Buddy Houston and joined lustily in group singing accompanied by the band.

The concerts at North Lake park, sponsored by the North Lake park association, will continue each Sunday evening at 8 p. m. through July and August.

Two more concerts will be held at Stadium field at 8 p. m. Sunday evenings and the fourth and final concert will be held at the new Guy Myers Memorial band shell in Ashland.

The Stadium field concerts are jointly sponsored by the City Recreation department and Local 159, American Federation of Musicians.

Both series of concerts are open to the public without charge.

Shunk, Bucyrus Manufacturer, Wins $14,583 Damage Action

BUCYRUS — After more than four years' litigation, John Q. Shunk, retired Bucyrus manufacturer, has won his $14,583 action for damages against the Shunk Manufacturing company here.

The Sixth District Court of Appeals at Toledo has reversed the decision of Judge Edmund Savord of Sandusky, who originally heard the case in Common Pleas court here in May, 1946. The appellate court returned a final judgment for the plaintiff, stating in the court's opinion that Shunk was discharged without just and legal cause.

Shunk, a well known local philanthropist and former owner of the Shunk Manufacturing company, alledged that after selling his company in August, 1943, he was to be retained by the new owners as general manager from Aug. 1, 1943, to July 31, 1945, for which he was to be paid $50,000. He alleged he was discharged on Dec. 31, 1944.

After Judge Savord ruled for the defendant company, the case was carried to the Third District Court of Appeals at Lima which reversed the Savord decision and returned the case here for further proceedings.

Judge Savord then corrected the error cited by the Lima appellate court and reaffirmed the original judgment after which the case was taken to the Toledo court when Charles F. Schaber, Bucyrus attorney for Mr. Shunk, requested the case be heard by a different appellate court.

The Toledo court pointed out that Shunk's contract as general manager contained a clause that in the event Shunk died or was discharged before he had been paid $50,000, the company was liable for the unpaid balance. The defendant company contended Shunk was discharged because he failed to perform his duties satisfactorily after Sept. 1, 1943.

Output of Steel Cut; Strike Near

60 To 90 Day Walkout Seen

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The possibility of a strike in the steel industry is becoming more real, according to the report issued today by the magazine Steel, publication of the steel trade.

Steel said in its current issue that the contract of the United Steelworkers of America, (CIO) expires July 16. On the 12th the union's wage policy committee will meet and determine their future course of action. The union could go on strike as its contract ends, Steel said.

Offers made by the union have been rejected by U. S. Steel, and therefore, unless President Truman steps into the picture to hold off the strike for a negotiation period of 60 to 90 days, a strike seems likely, Stee. added.

Mass vacations, Fourth of July shut-downs and the generally slackened demand have caused a steelmaking drop to 60 per cent of National ingot capacity, the magazine said.

Steel reports spotty buying as the rule. Supply and demand balance has "practically" been achieved. Prompt shipment is available on some items.

No change is apparent in prices except a further slight drop in scrap. Consumers continue to expect a drop and producers continue to deny the possibility, it stated.

Throughout the industry operations declined last week, according to the publication.

District rates dropped as follows: Youngstown 40 points to 50 per cent; Cincinnati 17 points to 72; Pittsburgh 21½ points to 55; Cleveland 17½ points to 62; Detroit 18 points to 88; New England 8 points to 38; St. Louis 7½ points to 75.5; Eastern Pennsylvania 6 points to 68; Chicago 2½ points to 68.5; Wheeling 2½ points to 68 per cent.

2 Confined To Hospital

The two were injured when a car driven by Mrs. Bushman's husband, skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into a tree.

Guido V. Dandera, 35, of Newark was killed late Saturday when he leaped from his gas truck as it went out of control a mile southeast of Ashland on U. S. Route 42. As Dandera leaped from the truck, a four-wheel trailer, pulled by the truck, turned over on the driver.

Act To Halt Smuggling

Lebanon Creates 'Neutral Zone'

BEIRUT — (AP) — Lebanon has created a "neutral zone" on its short border with Israel in an attempt to block smuggling of foodstuffs into the new Jewish state.

Informed sources said this smuggling is a large scale business, a great deal of it apparently well organized.

Food prices in Israel, crowded with a constantly growing number of immigrants, are well above prices in Lebanon. For example, eggs which sell for about 36 cents a dozen in Lebanon, bring $2.40 a dozen in Israel.

The temptation to make some of this easy money is great. Apparently it is strong enough to submerge — at least in the smugglers — the antagonism to the new Jewish state that flared at its peak during the Palestine fighting.

Gabriel Murr, Lebanon's minister of the interior, said creation of the "neutral zone" on the Israeli border is expected to put effective controls on such smuggling.

Early in May Syria and Lebanon had a dispute over the killing of Hussein Kamel, a Lebanese citizen, by Syrian soldiers on Lebanese territory. Syria claimed Kamel had been spying on the Syrian army and selling his information to Isreal. That was why Kamel was slain, Syria said, but there were other charges, too, among them that Kamel had been smuggling food into Israel.

Lt. Jennings of Mt. Vernon came back to take the first place in the ribbon - cutting mission, fifth and last meet of the afternoon. Lt. Jennings, reported to have "very skillfully manuvered his plane," cut the ribbon with the wings of his plane 30 seconds after it was dropped from a height of 3,000 feet.

Second place went to Lt. Neib and Flight Officer Schwaner of Mansfield who clipped the ribon in one minute and 10 seconds.

Planes used in the show were Fairchild 24's, an Aeronca Chief, Luscombes and a Piper Super Cruiser.

Cabbie Thwarts Youth's Suicide

YOUNGSTOWN —(INS)— A 24-year-old youth was in fair condition in a Youngstown hospital today after his attempts to commit suicide were thwarted by a taxicab driver.

Police said that the youth got into the cab of Phil Navarro of Youngstown and asked to be driven around the block. Shortly afterwards, Navarro noticed that his passenger was slashing his wrists with a razor blade.

Navarro stopped the car and called Police.

84,000 Evicted In Honeyed Situation

CLEVELAND — (AP) — They evicted about 84,000 "undesirable" residents here yesterday, but no one appeared very concerned about it.

The victims were a swarm of bees that had entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Popp without invitation. After cutting away the wall of a second-story bedroom, Popp and two friends found combs six feet long and weighing more than 100 pounds.

The next CAP patrol for Group five will be held August 7 at Ashland.

Showdown Looms on Finances; Assembly Nears Adjournment

Bills Jam Hopper In Legislature

Ohio Cash Need First On Agenda

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The showdown comes this week in the Ohio legislature. The stakes are high.

Senators decided to finish work next Friday and end the session July 29. House acceptance of the dates will make them official. That will fix the deadline for lawmakers to win passage of pet proposals. The welter of pending bills assures a jam.

Major money enactments are needed to give the state funds to pay its bills, employes and 125,000 old age pensioners. Authority to spend money ran our last June 30. Delayed July pension checks began piling up. They will total 70,000 Tuesday.

Senators approved a $62,000,000 appropriation to run the state two months. That was to give lawmakers time to study the $647,000,000 budget providing money for two years.

The House acted to bypass the two - month measure and speed a vote on the big biennial appropriation.

Before going home Wednesday a day ahead of schedule, representatives approved a $5,700,000 allocation for old age pensions.

The Senate Finance committee then reported out the biennial budget. It may come to a vote Tuesday or Wednesday. House action probably will send it to a conference committee to iron out differences.

The Senate committee restored several million dollars eliminated by the House. The committee then imposed a 3½ per cent cut of more than $5,000,000 across-the-board on free funds. That was to keep expenses within anticipated state income as Gov. Frank J. Lausche asked.

The committee later took up the House - passed capital improvements bill. It carries $99,000,000 for construction at hospitals, universities and other state sites. The $333,000 sundry claims measure awaits House action.

It is the last of the major money bills.

Facing the final week, sponsors of bills to get more money for teachers, local governments and state workers got busy. Sen. Albert L. Daniels (R - Highland) blasted Lausche for trying to still them.

Lausche says the school and local government bills would appropriate money the state doesn't have.

The Senate Liquor Control committee recommended passage of a 5 per cent profit markup for the state liquor monopoly. The measure is designed to finance increased state aid for cities and other local governments. A bill to boost the aid from $12,000,000 to $18,000,000 a year passed the Senate but stalled in the House Rules committee. Approval of the liquor profit markup would release the local government appropriation measure, sponsors believe.

Three Die In Mishap

ELWOOD, Ind — (AP) — Three residents of Upper Sandusky, Ohio, were killed in a headon automobile collision on highway 37 north of here Saturday.

They were identified by state police as Mrs. Marie Webster, 48, Arthur Koss, 31, and William W. Briddick, 32, all of 446 North Seventh street.

Four other persons were injured seriously in the accident and were taken to Long hospital in Indianapolis. They were listed as Clara Kostroski, 28, and David Kostroski, 3, of Wyandotte, Mich., Mrs. Albert Przybylski of Grosse Isle, Mich., and an unidentified man.

State Police said the Michigan car apparently went onto the shoulder of the road on its own side and then swung back across the pavement into the path of the Ohio car.

Scientists 'Play Ball' With Short Wave Radio

By H. W. BLAKESLEE

MONTREAL —(AP)— High up on the side of Mount Royal here McGill university scientists are batting radio waves around like baseballs.

The waves are short, the longest about half the diameter of a golf ball.

The pitcher is a sending station and the batter is a large, basket-shaped wire mesh several hundred yards away. This batter is down the mountain a bit, and stands on top of a 100-foot tower to bring his mesh bat level with the sender.

The tops of tall trees which projected up into the space between the two positions have been cut off as evenly as if by a mowing machine. This radio field has to be level the same as any ball field.

The purpose is to discover how short radio waves affect one another. The work is directed by G. A. Woonton, director of the Eaton Electronics laboratory. The design of television and radar antennae is affected by the action of the little electromagnetic waves.

It used to be that the laws of light waves would tell a radio engineer about all he needed on behavior of his radio waves. With the ultra-short waves, some new information is necessary. Finding it is the purpose of this McGill outdoor laboratory.

In the batting practice it takes two robot pitchers to deliver the little waves. One is the generator robot, with a snout shaped like a small megaphone. The waves issue from this snout in the form of a cone-shaped beam. This beam expands rapidly in all directions. A few feet in front of the snout the second robot, which resembles a window screen to keep out the flies, catches the cone and focusses it in the direction of the distant batter.

The batter is several diameters higher and wider than the pitcher. His wire mesh catches the waves and bounces them back to the home plate. This plate is a recording pen which draws on a moving roll of paper a continuous succession of waves The waves are lines which curve upward like one side of an ocean wave and then downward like the other side.

But these up and down lines are not quite smooth. There are humps here and there. Finding the meanings of these humps is the important thing. They are expected to reveal the laws of short electromagnetic waves.

It has been found that when one of these waves passes throug through a focussing guide new waves are generated at the edges of the guide.

New Character Bobs Up In Children's Robin Hood Book

By Library Staff Member

"Robin Hood's Arrow," by Eugenia Stone, is one of the new books for children which are available at the Mansfield Public library. The book is a collection of stories about Robin Hood, some of them brand new.

The author has created a new character, Dan of the mill, and tells several stories about his contacts with Robin Hood. Robin is just as clever as ever, still taunting the Sheriff of Nottingham and escaping, and still helping the poor and those in danger.

Here is a list of pleasant, light relaxing books for hot weather reading:

"Tip and Mitten," by Paul McKee, is a good book for the very new readers. It is the story of a dog and kitten and the fun they had together. Beside each sentence is the picture of the person who is talking.

"Pedro's Choice, by Catherine Blanton, tells about a little Mexican boy who wanted to be a breat bull fighter. He planned to make a lot of money and get lots of things for his mother. Most people thought Pedro should be an artist because he could make such lovely pictures. Miss Blanton tells how Pedro made a brave choice, how he learned about bull fighting and decided what he wanted to be.

Two books on this week's list are about real people. "Paul Revere, Boy of Old Boston, by Augusta Stevenson, is an exciting story about the early days of our country's history and the part that little children played. We think of Paul Revere as a great hero, in this book he is just another little boy, skipping school and playing pranks.

For older boys, who like their reading more serious, Jeanette Nolan's "Andrew Jackson," is suggested. Jackson was one of the most colorful figures in early America, the first "poor boy to become President" and one of the first examples of the living truth of democracy. He led an exciting life, and none of it is lost in this outstanding biography.

Two other books are about legendary characters, Paul Bunyan and Robin Hood. Wallace Wadsworth's "Paul Bunyan and His Great Blue Ox" is a grand collection of 15 stories about the Great Paul and his fabulous adventures.

"Gay Melody," by Martha Kiser, is the story of Rhoda Melody Merril who wanted to be a school teacher in the days when "nice girls didn't ". Louisa Alcott was one of her friends and helpers. Here is a good picture of what girls and schools and fashions and manners were like 80 years ago. There is a romance, too.

Reveal New Blood Test

ST. LOUIS — (INS) — A life-saving medical device to test blood by flame has been developed by scientists of the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis.

The New appratus, a flame photometer, will in as little time as fifteen minutes make measurements that by conventional qualitative analysis took twelve hours or longer.

Discovery of a deficiency in the body salts of a person by the quick method could for example, save the life of infants with diarrhea which has depleted their body supply of sodium and potassium salts.

Scientists explain that the complex chemistry of the human body must remain balanced to retain life and health. When disease or injury brings about the loss of appreciable amounts of vital chemical elements, they say death may result if these elements are not replaced.

The device developed by the St. Louisans speeds the discovery of such deficiencies and thus allows the administering of medicants at an early stage.

Troops Kill 500 Outlaws

MANILA — (UP) Philippine government troops have killed some 500 Hukbalahap outlaws in retaliation for the massacre of Mrs. Aurora A. Quezon and 11 members of her motor party in Nueva Ecija province.

The estimate was given by a responsible officer who admitted that it was only an approximation, since it is impossible for the government to keep accurate check on Huk casualties. The outlaws often carry away and bury their dead.

The Philippine constabulary described government casualties as "extremely light" in the punitive campaign that followed the April 28 ambush murder of the wife of the first president of the Philippines, members of her family and her military escort.

The campaign touched off by the Quezon murder continues and, according to Brig. Gen. Alberto Ramos, constabulary commander, there will be not letup "until the bullets of the Huks are exhausted."

Constabulary officers frankly admit that it may take a long time for the Communist - led outlaws to run out of ammunition.

Girl to Plea For Luciano

ROME — (AP) — Shapely Igea Lissoni vowed Saturday to plead personally with police for the release of Charles "Lucky" Luciano, her sweetheart who is under questioning about narcotic smuggling.

The one-time ballet dancer told a reporter in a telephone talk from Luciano's apartment "It's like Charley always said, just persecution, that's all."

"I'm going to see what I san do," she added.

Signorina Lissoni and the former New York vice king met on the Isle of Capri two years ago, about 18 months after his deportation by the United States in 1946. She is 28, he is 51.

Harvests Gas In Corn Field

AKRON — (AP) — J. M. Hardman planted corn in a four-acre field but the harvest turned out to be gasoline — 50,000 gallons of it.

A Standard Oil company (Ohio) pipeline broke last Friday about 10 miles south of Akron and flooded the Hardman corn.

Farmers and friends came from miles around with buckets, washtubs and barrels to collect the fuel from pools on a 150,000 square foot area.

Merchandise manager W. E. Baldwin of Akron estimated Sohio's loss at $15,000. Hardman's corn crop was destroyed

Survey Report Shows Dangers of Farming

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A farm is just about the most dangerous place a family can live and work.

Safety experts have known this for a long time, and President Truman is trying to make farms safer. He has proclaimed the week of July 24 as National Farm Safety week.

About 18,000 farm people are killed each year in work and home accidents and in automobile mishaps on farm roads. Thousands of others are injured.

Mr. Truman has set up a farm safety committee. It is attempting to eliminate 30,000,000 farm hazards that range from mean bulls to unsafe tractors.

Meanwhile the Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported there continue to be more fatalities in agricultural activities than in any other major industry.

And the Bureau of Agricultural Economics (BAE) has just completed its first major survey of farm accident costs. Its conclusion:

Non - fatal farm accidents caused farm people to lose 17,000,000 working days in 1948. The cost for medical care, but not including the lost time, was $36,000,000. These, remember, were only the accidents that didn't cause death.

The BAE found the most costly kind of an accident is an auto accident. The average cost for medical care for these nonfatal accidents is $64.

But falls cause more farm injuries than any other accidents. In the sample survey of 2,000 accidents, 476 involved falling from such things as haystacks and stepladders. The average cost of each of these accidents was $45 in medical care. Farmers lost an average of 24 days from each accident.

Machines are the next greatest hazard. They caused 248 of the 2,000 "sample" accidents and they cost $61 an accident. Average time lost was 20 days.

In third place among the hazards of farm life come farm animals — mostly mean ones. Kicking horses, charging bulls, biting pigs and similar animals with unpleasant dispositions caused injuries to 233 farmers. These accidents cost on the average $36 for medical care. The farmers lost an average of 19 days from work.

The men folks have about three times as many accidents as farm women. Most accidents involve men from 25 to 44 years old.

The south has the lowest accident rate. The BAE says this probably is because there are fewer farm machines in the south than some other areas.

The accident rate is slightly below the national level in the northeast and far above the national average in the north central states and west.

The average medical costs also were lower in the south, around $34 per accident. The highest cost, $66, was in the northeast.

High Price Tag Placed On Kiss

LINCOLN, Neb. — (UP) — It was a sizzling, $1,678.60 kiss Dale Markel, a sailor, gave his girl, City Prosecutor Jack Devoe had another word for it. He said the 18 - year - old sailor, home on leave from the San Diego, Cal., base, gave his girl a "long delayed kiss" while driving at about 30 miles per hour.

Markel's automobile plunged over the curb and crashed into a pole supporting a transformer. The pole snapped, bashing in the top of the car, while live wires sizzled and popped.

Devoe said damage to the automobile amounted to $650, and the city estimated damage to the transformer and lines at about $1,000. Markel was fined $25 and costs of $3.60 in municipal court.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

William Ritt says he doesn't know who invented money, but whoever it was didn't invent enough of it.

No Military Dictator Wanted

THE GOVERNMENT reorganization act has been passed by Congress and signed by the President, but efforts to exempt favored departments from its provisions are by no means ended. Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Services committee, has proposed that, by additional legislation, the armed services be made proof against the reorganization powers of the President. The reason advanced by Vinson is that he wants to insure the nation against military dictatorship.

The motives of the chairman may be altogether sincere. But that does not alter the fact that what he proposes is a weakening of the reorganization act. If a successful attack can be made against the act on behalf of one department, other attempts to protect departments, bureaus, offices and agencies will certainly follow. If the President is to attack inefficiency and waste in government, he must have power to attack them wherever they exist.

The prevention of military dictatorship—or any other dictatorship—is not to be found in law. The most precious heritages of the Bill of Rights and the rest of the Constitution are ours only as long as we appreciate them and are willing to protect them with our thoughts and speech and actions in private life, with our interest in public affairs, willingness to serve the nation, and intelligent use of the ballot. Those things are our assurance against dictatorship.

Greater Use of Vet Hospitals

THE HOOVER commission, as part of its investigation of government organization, pointed out that hospitals for veterans had been over developed, and that they were equipped to take care of more than service-connected cases.

According to Carl R. Gray jr., veterans administrator, the facilities of these hospitals should be free to veterans suffering from any illness, provided the patients with service-connected troubles are first in line for treatment. The only stipulation should be that the veteran be unable to pay for his care at a private hospital, says Gray. He declares that each case is carefully investigated, and that all veterans needing this hospitalization receive the best of care.

This question should be carefully gone into before a decision about veterans' hospital funds is made. With private hospitals overcrowded and unable to cope with many of their space problems, the veterans' hospitals can fill a definite need. To end bickering on the subject, a clear-cut decision should be made by Congress as to whether veterans should receive treatment for ailments with no service connection, and what rules of ability to pay should be applied to such cases. Those matters should not be left to administrative decision, and they are the bone of much of the contention about the veterans' hospitals.

Haphazard Digging

WHAT SEEMS like an innocent summer amusement may be an occupation to be discouraged. This is the amateur archaeological expedition, seeking and unearthing Indian burying grounds or such. The participants may get a lot of fun, but they also may mess the remains up for the future trained archaeologist. It is not enough to know that such and such a skull or piece of pottery comes from a particular excavation. Its relation to other objects there should be noted before anything is disturbed. There may be several layers of prehistoric tools and remains which, unless handled by experienced people, are almost certain to get mixed up.

One of the great archaeological discoverers of history was Heinrich Schliemann, who discovered the ruins of ancient Troy. Archaeologists now can hardly speak his name without emotion, for Schliemann dug hit-or-miss and removed objects without precise records as to just where they lay with relation to other objects. Facts that a trained worker could have discovered are irreparably lost because of Schliemann's amateur enthusiasm.

So, would-be archaeologists, don't be like Schliemann. Dig if you must, but take an expert along.

Getting the Right Start

REALIZING that present international tensions are likely to continue through much of the lifetime of children now in the public schools, the National Education association, through the agency of its policies commission, has formulated a plan for teaching students how to handle the problems involved.

The commission's report states that if teachers do their part in training youth the cold war will not develop into a shooting war. The positive contributions that have been made by a democratic society must be emphasized, but the students also must be taught about the principles and practices of totalitarianism, and must be led to understand how dictators come to power and how the Communist party functions in the United States and elsewhere.

The commission recognizes that the schools form the logical means for inculcating intelligent patriotism and an understanding of the advantages of the American way of life. Only through comparison with other systems can Americans clearly see the advantages of the one under which they live. Patriotism which is worth something is produced in this manner.

The Governors' Conference at Colorado Springs shows that advocates of states' rights have the human quality of wanting to eat their cake and have it too. They wish less federal interference with their affairs, but no reduction in the money allotted from Washington.

What Some Other People Are Saying

Attorney General TOM CLARK, commenting on the hung jury in the Alger Hiss perjury trial: "We shall vigorously prosecute the case again as quickly as the docket of the court will permit."

Reds Put More Pressure On Poland

By J. C. OESTREICHER

OMINOUS SIGNS that Soviet Russia is bringing increasing pressure to bear on Poland can be seen in Warsaw's announcement that all Polish exports to Yugoslavia have been halted.

A formal statement accused Marshal Tito of deliberately sabotaging a trade agreement between the two countries. It said that Tito had rejected shipments of articles already contracted for and instead insisted upon non-essentials "such as wine, raisins and other luxuries."

Poland therefore now has taken virtually the identical line as other nations within the Soviet orbit despite her insistence in the past that she remains a truly sovereign state, not subject to the dictates of Moscow.

The mere wording of the announcement is an inferential repetition of past charges that Marshal Tito has transformed communist Yugoslavia into a "bourgeois" state, envying and imitating the "decadent" habits and customs of the western powers.

Ever since the beginning of Soviet expansionism, Poland has attempted to retain a facade of independence. Visas to foreign travelers are given willingly and speedily and every attempt has been made to convince the world that despite the country's geographical location far to the east in Europe, the iron curtain has missed Poland completely.

There have been numerous instances of Poland's almost fanatical desire to convince the world that she is not a bolshevized offshoot of the Kremlin.

In March of this year, Polish authorities expelled Chester H. Opal, an attache of the United States embassy in Warsaw, for referring to Poland as a "Soviet satellite." He was said to have used that familiar expression in the text of a brochure written for the United States Information Service.

In the same general connection, Polish authorities have given the widest possible publicity to such matters as trade and friendship agreements with Great Britain and France, although it is equally true that the east-west rift did not stand in the way of similar economic tie-ups between Russia herself and the western powers.

Just what abrogation of the trade agreement with Yugoslavia means in terms of long-range developments cannot be foretold at the moment.

There is no denying, however, that for one reason or other Poland has adopted the classic Cominform line regarding Tito. Nor can it be forgotten that the most important meetings of the Cominform have taken place in Warsaw and in another Polish city called Wroclaw.

Pact Means Two Worlds

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — It is somehow appropriate, if ironically so, that the Senate is debating the Atlantic pact in a temporary abode that is a memorial to the past.

For the Atlantic pact is a retreat into the past and the discussion that goes on in the small chamber where the Senate met in the first half of the last century, to which it has removed from its regular chamber, is redolent of the old-fashioned diplomacy of that other era.

It is not correctly a retreat into our own past. For we shunned military alliance then, and the Atlantic pact is a new adventure for us. It is a retreat into the past of the rest of the world in that other era when periwigged kings and emperors sat about conniving with periwigged foreign ministers in a private game of power politics.

The game wasn't so expensive then, nor so devastating. Professional soldiers fought professional wars for king and country. Now as we have learned from the bitter experience of two world wars in our generation, the game of power politics sucks everybody everywhere into the vortex of destruction.

It was going to be different, or so we said after each of those experiences. But it isn't different, as is daily demonstrated by the talk that goes on in the Senate. We are still the luckless prisoners of the past, though the trigger finger toys now not with the flintlock, but with the atom bomb and the rocket.

We have been unable to resolve the differences betwen us and Russia that figuratively have divided the world between the two of us, though we have made some slight headway of late. Now, through the Atlantic pact, we would openly certify the fact of two worlds, instead of the one world to which we looked hopefully, by an armed alliance by which we establish a picket fence of steel across Europe which we pledge ourselves to maintain and keep in repair.

What goes on in the Senate is merely conversation toward a predestined anti-climax. Overwhelming ratification of the pact is sure.

Tension between us and Russia has abated somewhat. Sitting around the table at Paris contributed to that, though it achieved little. Russia is said to be on the defensive now. Nobody now seems to fear a war unless it is pushed and provoked from our side of the picket fence.

* * *

The Real Problem

Some advocates of the pact have been fearful that the easing of tension might work against the pact in the Senate—a fear that tells us much of the dominant psychology of our times—the fear that, as it is often put, "peace might break out." But the pact is certain. There need be no fear on that score.

Its handful of opponents quibble and split hairs about technicalities that are comparatively trivial, that hark back to the past, arguing about whether under the pact we might get into a war without a vote by Congress, whether a vote for the pact implies a later vote for arms to implement it. Those are not particularly relevant to the deeper issues involved.

No one has risen up to go to the heart of the matter, and probably no one will. No one has said that our aim is one world, and that we are by the pact making two, and solidifying them. Nor that we are not moving forward boldly toward a new order in the world, but are going backward.

No one has said that until we attack boldly the problem of disarming the nations of the world, instead of arming them, our world will be a sick and anxious and jittery world, sick economically and so panicky with the fears we create in our own minds that we may, in desperation, take up the arms so ready at hand against our self-made "sea of troubles."

Neither our economy nor any other in the world can stand too long the constant drain and strain of an armed camp.

No one points to the big three-quarters of the annual cost of our government that goes to pay for past wars and as insurance against future wars. There is the meat of the problem.

DULLES AS SENATOR

Governor Dewey's appointment of John Foster Dulles to the United States Senate brings to that body a figure second only to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan as an authority on international affairs.

Dulles, who will fill out the unexpired term of Senator Wagner of New York, has been one of the American representatives in the United Nations from its inception.

Coming to the Senate in the role of constructive critic and as a teammate of Sen. Vandenberg, even if it is only for a few months, Dulles should be able to give our foreign policy some badly needed direction.

THERE IS a resolution before the senate committee on foreign relations asking that the preamble to the Atlantic pact which pledges a determination to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples be changed to emphasize America's most precious heritage — faith in almighty God.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith, its author, points out that with Russia and its satellites sneering at God and his influence, this nation, which from its foundation indicated the deepest faith in a supreme being, should not mince words in defining what it regards as the common heritage.

United States 'Pensions' In Britain

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Here are some things to remember about the British monetary maneuverings which amiable Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder is trying to straighten out. The story goes back to war days, but can be summarized chapter by chapter.

Chapter 1 — Bretton Woods: at the Bretton Woods monetary conference in 1944, Lord Beaverbrook and Winston Churchill argued that Britain could not go back to normal free-trade relations after the war, that Britain must live by its wits, would have to put across the same cut-throat barter agreements such as negotiated by Hitler (and as now signed with Argentina).

Roosevelt and Morgenthau urged that there was not much use defeating Hitler if the Allies were to adopt his methods afterward, and the British finally came around to the idea of letting trade take its normal channels — provided they got a loan from the U. S. A.

Chapter 2 — British loan: In 1946, Britain got a post-war $3,750,000,000 loan from the U. S. A. This was officially considered a loan, and statements made by this column that it was actually a grant were denied. However, it is now conceded that the "loan" is pretty much forgotten, will never be repaid.

One condition of the loan was that Britain would abandon her "sterling-dollar pool." This was an arrangement, necessary during the war, by which British colonies and dominions sent their dollars to London, and were then permitted to spend only such dollars as London dictated. In other words, all dollar purchases in the British empire were rationed by London. Australia, for instance, could not buy from the U. S. A. unless London so decreed.

Chapter 3—The Marshall plan: After abolishing the sterling-dollar pool for a short time as per agreement, the British went back to it again in 1947. This was shortly before the Marshall plan and at a time when the British once again were appealing for financial help. If they got help, the British promised, they would again abolish the sterling-dollar pool.

Accordingly the Marshall plan was worked out, and under it Britain receives the largest grant of all countries. Adding up the Marshall plan, the loan, an other aid, the United States has now poured an average of a billion dollars a year into Britain since the end of the war.

Chapter 4 — The current crisis: Despite the Marshall plan and the British loan, plus other interim relief, the British are still just as badly off. This also goes for many other Western European countries.

As a result, Sir Stafford Cripps now threatens to do what Britain promised not to do under the loan agreement — once again restore the sterling-dollar pool. In fact, he has already abolished further purchases from the U. S. A. Cripps has also done what Beaverbrook and Churchill promised not to do at Bretton Woods —namely adopt cut-throat barter agreements, such as the recent Argentine meat pact.

What all this boils down to is that the Marshall plan, at the height of its operation, is not really working, despite the fact that the plan has been administered with great speed and a reasonable degree of efficiency.

Facts in the case — In Congress, they blame the British crisis on the labor government and socialism. This ignores the fact that other western European countries are likewise badly off, also that Britain has made more heroic economies than most.

It also ignores the fundamental trouble with England and Western Europe generally, namely, that it is eating more than it is producing; that it has too high a standard of living for its wealth; and that it expects us to pension it off.

This is crude way of putting it, but it might be cheaper in the long run for us to take over England, as a son takes an aged parent under his own roof.

The British once were affluent because they were milking Asiatic colonies. Millions of people in those colonies lived just above the starvation level, while the British empire wore ermine. But with a social revolution in Asia, the British have to live on their own crowded island, with little help from the grown-up and independent dominions.

The same is true of the Dutch, also affluent at one time from milking Asia, but now in desperate straits; and, to a lesser extent, the French, who still have North Africa.

Another basic fact ignored in the western European situation is that you can't keep on increasing labor pay unless labor produces. And labor costs are rising in England and France with no commensurate rise in production. So we make up the difference by pumping Marshall plan money into Europe every year.

Result — Today American and Canadian manufactured goods can outsell British goods almost anyplace. Our labor produces more; our methods of manufacture are more modern.

Snyder's remedy — Amiable John Snyder would remedy all this by devaluing the pound. This is only another way of reducing wages and profits. When you can't compete with another country's goods, you have to cut costs by cutting both wages and profits.

Politically, cutting wages is difficult. So devaluing the pound accomplishes the same thing less painfully without letting British labor know it. In the end, of course, British labor has to foot part of the bill, because the pound buys less and labor's income is reduced.

This is why Sir Stafford Cripps is so opposed to devaluing the pound.

At best, devaluing the pound is only a temporary stopgap. The fundamental trouble with England and Western Europe remains. More permanent remedies for Britain's desperate plight, therefore, will be discussed in future columns.

A Compass Would Help

By INEZ ROBB

WASHINGTON — It was never actually necessary during World War II to take a compass, a seein'-eye dog and a cask of C-rations along when visiting the Pentagon building.

But it was a sound idea. It still is. In fact, they are more essential today than during the war. While the shootin' lasted, an assorment of guards, counter intelligence agents and junior G-men roamed the endless corridors to pounce on any poor dazed wight found loitering or sending up smoke signals for help.

The wight was either tossed in the clink, if he had become incoherent in his wanderings through the Pentagon, or escorted to a cab if he could prove that he was just lost.

But at least the citizen confused by the size of Pentagon was not left to back-track by himself or die, as is now the custom.

I revisited the Pentagon today for the first time in almost four years.

In contrast to the stern wartime days when any visitor to the Pentagon had to show a full set of finger prints and any Pumpkin Papers on his person, the visitor today goes unchallenged.

The stranger is not even required to wear that identification disk, carefully numbered a la Alcatraz, without which he was apt to be shot on sight during the war. Nor is he personally escorted every place by trusted guides as in the old days.

* * *

Better Leave a Trail

AS I discovered today, the visitor is now on his own and will do well to take a leaf from "The Babes in the Woods," who were smart enough to leave a trail of crumbs to mark the way home.

The favorite story about the Pentagon during the war concerned the messenger who entered as a boy and finally exited as an old man with a long gray beard. This story has been updated for peace: the messenger now exits with three stars and an air force cap.

Probably the most surprising feature about the Pentagon revisited is the infiltration of the navy and the marine corps. Spearheaded by a landing force of 78 marines, the navy has established a beach head.

Under the guise of the unification of the armed forces, the navy has now infiltrated to the number of 1,500, a mere token force among the total of 24,500 army, airforce and civilian employes gathered under the Pentagon roof.

It struck me as particularly significant that naval personnel never goes singly in the Pentagon corridors. Like cops in a tough waterfront neighborhood, the navy lads only venture out in pairs.

An old naval acquaintance told me in a hoarse whisper that a brace of navy officers in the Pentagon was merely regarded as protective while three were looked upon as conspiratorial, if not downright subversive.

Considering the size of the navy task force, its infiltration has been deep and fairly impudent. The first sight that met my eyes today in the Pentagon concourse, which must be the largest entrance corridor in the world, was a big, cross section model not of a tank or a jet-propelled rocket or an improved bazooka, but of the destroyer Gearing.

And in the mall, another Pentagon thoroughfare, the navy has planted a large model of the aircraft carrier Saipan. This was regarded as especially bold stuff, since the Saipan was planted in the mall just as four-star Marine Gen. Holland M. (Howlin' Mad) Smith printed his memoirs of Saipan, blistering the bloomers off the army.

"The navy personnel who lugged the Saipan into the building and set it up in the mall were volunteers who acted above and beyond the call of duty," my navy informant whispered. Apparently, all navy personnel whisper in the Pentagon.

However, the marine spearhead, all 78, speak up good and loud.

"We just consider this another island hopping excursion," one of the marines explained contemptously.

Aside from the navy and marine infiltration, the only other information of comparable value that I gathered is the new rule that cars belonging to officers shall be parked according to rank.

Second looies are now parked so far from the Pentagon that in many instances it is simply shorter for them to walk to work and be done with it.

About Ferns and Fungi

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THERE is war in our woodland. Nature is a perfectionist. Wherever less than perfect growth and health exists, destroyers move in to rid the earth of ailing things.

A stately red oak grows at the wood's edge. I admire it every time I pass that way. The other day I found that it was gray with little bracket fungi. These come from spores that are wind-blown, and also carried by squirrels, birds and other animals. They had begun to grow upon a gash slashed by an ax, and had spread to every crack and crevice of the bark.

The brackets — often found upon old moldering stumps as well as upon wounded trees — are really the blossoms of the plant. Brackets bear the spores and throw them off from the under side. The wind carries them, and they fall upon any woody tissue that will furnish moisture and nourishment. Soon they reduce the wood to powder and mold and dust.

This would be a sad thing, if new life did not always wait for the chance to enjoy its brief struggle toward perfection.

Some of these bracket fungi are gay scarlet bracts, lovely to look upon in form and coloring. Artists used to search for them for etching material.

* * *

MOSS, ferns and lichens are abundant on the shaly banks of the Clear Fork. Near Greenwood Mill, the road winds along above the river, and jutting rocks are mossy, with ferns, lichens and flowers right at the autoist's elbow. It is a delightful hobby to learn these common ferns and mosses by name. Perhaps the commonest are the cinnamon ferns that are glistening white at first but turn tan before the coat drops off. This cinnamon "wool" is used by humming birds to line their nests.

Maidenhair fern grows here, too, in the rich moist woods dirt near the river. They push out of the leaves in spring, with bluish blooms and red stems. Later on the stems become black and the dark shining leaves make a half circle of graceful beauty.

The tall, sun-loving ferns or bracken are gigantic in the West. Here they are seldom more than three feet tall. They cover burnt-over land — dull green in summer, reddish brown in autumn.

Looking Through . . .

The Fashion Spy Glass

The biggest item in summer cosmetics is of course deodorants. Cream deodorants are still good and serve their purpose but there have been some inovations. One of these is the deodorant cologne that comes in several brands. This does not actually check perspiration but the scent combined with a deodorant agent is very agreeable for summer use.

There is a remarkable soap on the market which is ordinary bath soap with a deodorant agent in it. This will effectively check perspiration odors for twenty-four hours. We particularly recommend it for women who have found no satisfactory deodorant and for men who just won't use one.

Helena Rubinstein has a product that is called Sun Tint and it's bound to be popular. It can be used on every part of the body, since it contains no harmful ingredient. It will give you an even tan from your forhead to your feet and can be applied in any number of layers to give the desired tan.

For women past thirty-five who have difficulty keeping their skin moist in weather extremities there is a new product called Liquid Revenesence which keeps your skin flexible and is really a treatment for your skin. Your make-up will slide on over it and look as smooth as silk. You merely pour six or seven drops into the palm of your hand and work it up into a delicate creamy consistency and smooth it on evenly over your face and throat.

Face powder is always a problem in the summer if you tan readily. Your winter powder is much too light. Did you know that you can get your powder to match your very own complexion? It doesn't cosy any more than any other good powder and it is mixed by an experienced cosmetician, who performs the "magic" while she's looking at your skin. She can tell at a glance what shades you need in your face powder. You can buy boxes at from one dollar to four. If you take a big box you can bring it back for season to season and have it lightened or darkened.

As far as cologne and perfume go, you want a light cool scent for summer Your heavy winter perfumes don't mix well with cottons and silks. We found an ideal summer scent that we weren't familiar with. It's called Belladgia and it's made by Garon It is more expensive than other popular brands but the scent is heavenly and very distinctive. It is perfect for summer wear Angelique's White Satin and Arden's Blue Grass also do nicely if you're shopping around for a good summer scent.

For information on where to buy any of the products mentioned in this column, call Joan Schweitz at the News-Journal.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active

GASPE PENINSULA: A Land Where Mountains Meet Sea

By ANN SCHOENMAN

I'm told by a vacationist employed at the News-Journal that the summer isn't complete until we've taken a quick tour of Gaspe Peninsula, La Province de Quebec.

Although the peninsula was first discovered four hundred years ago, it was just in the last few years that it gained popularity as a vacation spot.

The Gaspe Peninsula is at the northern end of the Appalachian system of mountains, which extends southwest across the Continent as far as the Gulf of Mexico 3,000 miles away. The local name for the mountains is "Shickshocks," and a height of over 4,000 feet is attained by some of the peaks in Gaspe. High cliffs, falling abruptly away into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, border the north shore of the Peninsula, there being neither bay nor harbor on that side, but the southern shore is softer, and borders on the magnificent Baie des Chaleurs (Bay of Warmth,) aptly called the "Mediterranean of Morth America".

This ruggedly beautiful peninsula, with a 1,000 mile belt line road that soars and dips and skirts the Atlantic surf, carries people through a land of beauty, of folk lore and of other ways.

You'll see Madame baking her bread in an old dome shaped oven in the back yard This is done because bread delivery is infrequent, and she can still put to practice her ancient recipe and turn out loaves of rare taste.

Gaspe stands on a bay that furnishes one of the finest deep-water refuges on the eastern seabord An all-year port, it may develop as the peninsula's minerals are worked in days ahead.

During our visit in Gaspe we're transported to old Normandy and old Brittany. Some have called Quebec "France in America". Many of the people today live on the same piece of land cleared by the "first ancestor" who came over to La Nouvelle France when the Fings of France held court at Versailles.

It was on Gaspe that Jacques Cartier landed in 1534 and set up a cross in the name of His Christian Majesty of France. Today a stone cross has been set up to perpetuate the incident.

At the junction of Restigouche and Matapedia rivers, where the city of Matapedia is located, it is famous for their salmon fishing Because of the constant watch kept against poachers, these rivers are teeming with huge salmon, some weighing up to 48 pounds, and 35 pounders are quite common. All you need is your favorite rod and flies. Several of the hotels supply the canoe and all other equipment. These would really be prizes to send back home to your friends. Gaspe can truly be called the wonderland where mountains meet the sea.

See Bright Car Outlook

Record Production Seen For This Year

DETROIT — (AP) — Barring crippling work stoppages the auto industry will build 2,650,000 vehicles in the coming six months.

That will give a 1949 United States factory output of close to 5,700,000 cars and trucks.

Perhaps this is a bold prediction. Nevertheless, most industry chroniclers expect a new record this year, and that appears already assured.

The present record is 5,385,420 units, made just 20 years ago. Unlike 1929, there isn't any mad scramble to consume huge quantities of raw materials moving into the car factories. This year the industry has fairly good control of its production program.

Of course, guesses about what will happen in the six months ahead can go wrong. A strike in the steel industry or the coal mines or a work stoppage in any one of the major auto plants would quickly upset all the industry's planning. It probably would upset the planning of a lot of would-be car buyers, too.

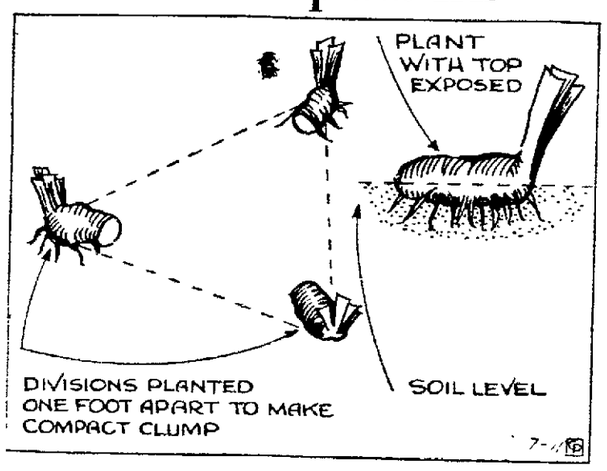
Time To Transplant Iris



By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Association

Practically all of the irises are best transplanted immediately after the flowering season, that is in July or August. Growth having largely ceased, the lifting and separation of the plants can best be done at this time. In the fall, renewed root growth takes place, and if the plants are moved then or early in the spring they are likely to be checked and blooming prevented. The Japanese irises, however, can be transplanted successfully early in the spring.

It is necessary to dig up and divide iris clumps every three or four years. The rhizomes branch a great deal and soon form a dense matted growth. Unless divided and re-set the bloom will be interfered with. Divisions planted one foot apart to make a compact clump, are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

The rhizomes of the tall bearded irises must not be planted too deep. They develop normally right at the surface of the soil, and exposure to the hot sun is essential. Consequently in planting they should be placed with the upper surface of the rhizome exposed, as illustrated. The roots should be firmly planted, however, to anchor the bulb until new growth is made. The roots should be spread out and down.

Any good garden loam that is neutral and is well drained will grow iris. If the soil is very light, work in a liberal amount of peat moss, although well-rotted manure is better. Heavy soil can be prepared for irises by digging in peat moss liberally or by adding a certain amount of sand.

When planting iris the foliage should be cut back to within a few inches of the crown, as illustrated.

Hal Boyle Says:

Buried Alive a Good Way To Get Rest

NEW YORK —(AP)— Rainy day roundup: An unconscious hero of our times is Ray Emmert of Zanesville, Ohio.

This 40-year-old ex-soldier solved his personal unemployment problem by having himself buried alive in a coffin six feet underground.

After 45 days Emmert emerged, collected his financial tribute, and claimed a new "buried alive" record. His chief complaint was that he got "tired of looking at nothing but faces."

There is no reason why everyman shouldn't, from time to time, follow Emmert's example. All he needs to "get away from it all" is a shovel, a cheap pine coffin—and a friend to cover him up.

The milk man could lower him a fresh bottle of milk every morning, and the delivery boy from the delicatessen could drop hom a ham sandwich or a hardboiled egg once or twice a day. It would be a wonderful way to spend a restful vacation—right in your own back yard.

And you wouldn't have to go through that annual argument with your wife over whether to go to the mountains or the seashore.

What could be better? No worrisome sunburn, no vexing mosquitoes, no hotel bills, no sore muscles.

This relaxing fad of being buried alive might well sweep the country except for one thing:

Every man has an uneasy feeling that, once he was six feet underground, his relatives and friends might decide he wasn't worth the trouble of digging up.

If you have Canterbury bells in your garden, nip out carefully the first flower as soon as it fades. Two small buds very close to the faded flower will bloom in a few weeks.
